

CHIEF SPENT HIS LIFE IN THE UNITED STATES

Yet, Roderick Mackenzie May
Have to Wait for Two Years
Before He Can Vote.

It has been discovered that Chief of Police Roderick Mackenzie is technically not a citizen of the United States. His case is similar to hundreds of others, several of whom became famous in the courts owing to the prominence of the men.

determine whether or not he can hold the Chiefship until he has taken the necessary steps to remove the legal obstacles.

The Chief was born in Canada. His parents spent much of their time in the United States while "Mac" was a little child. His father was never naturalized. His parents died when he was about four years of age and he became the ward of a New England uncle, a citizen. This uncle was a guardian but did not adopt his nephew.

"Mac" has always lived in the United States. He has resided in Utah for sixteen years. He has never taken an interest in politics though a believer in the principles of the Republican party. In recent years, locally, he favored the American Party. It has happened that he was always out of the city during campaigns and has never cast a vote. He has never registered. The point was not raised in his presence until recently and then it occurred to him that having lived in the United States since a child he had acquired a residence without the usual process necessary to aliens who come here after having reached the age of twenty-one.

The Chief was once a member of the National Guard. He has taken the oath to support and defend the constitution of the United States on several occasions. He has believed that Old Glory was his flag. He had no other allegiance. And yet, it is the opinion of attorneys who have been consulted, that technically he is an alien.

Whether or not he can serve as an appointive officer is now a question. This will soon be determined. If the law says no, he will hand Mayor Bransford his resignation and qualify as a citizen as early as the new law will permit. The old law would have permitted him to qualify as a citizen but not as a voter in five minutes. But the new law has changed this, it is said, and it may require two years.

The good people of Salt Lake will hope that there is no law preventing Chief Mackenzie retaining his office. His record has been one that any man may feel proud of and all good Salt Lakeers do.

WILL BORE WELLS TO RECLAIM ARID LAND

The State Board of Land commissioners will advertise for bids in a few days for boring two 3-inch pipe wells, one in Cider Valley, Utah county, and the other in Dog Valley, Juab county. It is proposed to use the water from these wells to reclaim the arid land in both valleys.

The board received a notice of selection from Governor Cutler Saturday for 6528.41 acres of land, which is a part of the land secured by Utah from the United States for a miners' hospital. The land selected is in Salt Lake county and Vernal land districts.

Every effort is being exerted to make it the greatest social event of the year.
